Dear John:

I have reviewed the pending claims in this application in connection with your August 9, 1990 letter regarding revision of the claims.

I do not see any problems with the present claims insofar as the third paragraph of your letter is concerned. I also recall that the Russian and Bulgarian examiners had concerns other than, at least in part, those referred to in your third paragraph.

I therefore suggest that you ask Callinans to review the claims and examine them to determine for themselves whether or not there is a problem. At the same time, I suggest that you also provide them with the Russian and Bulgarian revised claims as models on which to base cases of revised claims for Australia, and then ask them to let you know whether or not revised claims are required and to propose to you their own set of revised claims.

Very truly yours,
